A Vast Wilderness Publication

Diplomacy is honorably notifying someone of your attack, instead of stabbing him dishonorably....and mailing the letter the day of the deadline.

Summer continues to linger with us. That's an observation, not a complaint. It does seem to mean that you folks out there are out in the sun, rather than lurking in your dark living rooms getting your moves made. At the rate I am using standbys, by fall every game should have the same line-up of players.

Everyone should note that no matter who your GM is, your deadline is a week earlier than usual. This is because I intend to go to Gencon. By moving up the deadline a week, I get the next issue out to you before I leave, otherwise I would have to skip an issue.

Everyone should also note that subs are beginning to expire. If you have not renewed your sub, your moves are invalid. So please renew in time. Renewals should be sent to me, whether I am your GM or not.

SAINT GEORGE SPEAKS

The Boardman Numbers (What, again?)

In the Latest issue of Everything, Doug Beyerlein has announced that he intends to resign as Boardman number Custodian. The hobby, with Doug acting as its agent, is now engaged in a search for the new BNC.

It will be a tough act to follow. Doug has been BNC during the two years I have been involved with the hobby. I think he has done an admirable job under trying circumstances. The hobby owes him a debt of gratitude, particularly since he is arranging for his successor.

All members of the hobby are invited to apply to Doug if they have an interest in taking over the Boardman numbers. However, some people are more qualified than others. For what its worth, I have some suggestions which you might consider before applying.

Steve McLendon, in Dragon and the Lamb, mentions that current pubbers should not consider taking over the numbers unless they are planning to discontinue their own zines. This is a point well taken. The numbers, according to Doug take about an hour a night, every night. If you are running games too, you run the risk of burn-out. Diplomacy is a good game, but we are beginning to talk about its being your only hobby, and I don't think anyone would continue under those circumstances.

On the other hand, a complete novice to publishing should not take the numbers. Taking over one of the hobby's national activities is not the way to learn the ins and outs of publishing. My circumstances are such that although I can run a gamezine, my system would not be adaptable to publishing the numbers. A novice is quite enthusiastic when he enters the hobby, but can become quite disillusioned if he bites off too much at once.

Also, purely from a personal viewpoint, I don't think the new custodian ought to be closely connected with any of the hobby organizations: TDA, IDA, IDA-NA, TIDA, etc. I don't mean that the new custodian can't have belonged to one of these, but I don't think he should be closely identified with one of them such as Edi Birsan or Len Lakofka is.

I hope I haven't discouraged everyone, since we are going to need a new BNC. Doug has said that he will be interviewing prospective replacements at Gencon, which should give some of you added incentive to show up. However, if you are really interested, you should write Doug now for an application. And thanks again to Doug for the super job he has done.

With the remaining space, I would like to comment on the fact that I was forced to use all the standbys I obtained and still need more. I have said before in other zines that I don't consider it fun to win a game against NMR's. Consequently, when I find myself in a losing position(yes, it happens even to me), I consider it part of the game to continue to fight as long as I have a unit. When you decide to sign up for a game, do so with the intention of fighting to your last unit should the occasion require. I consider it a matter of personal integrity, and it certainly makes things easier for your over-worked GM.

 Edinburg(Via St.Petersburg, 17 October, 1906) RIP Former Russian ambassador to Norway, Fyodor Roszak, today accepted the post of Russian Peeple's Envoy to Great Britain. Roszak denied that the Russian military presence in Scotland was a hostile act against Great Britain. Roszak pointed to the great leaps forward made in Scandinavia under English political rule and Soviet military occupation. He said he was considering a similar system in Great Britain, whereby the Russian military occupation would in no way infringe on a Scandinavia government ruling over Great Britain.

Edinburg(via St.Petersburg, 17 November, 1906, RIP)

Russian People's Envoy to Great Britain, Fyodor Reszak praised the great Irish Patriots' victory in gaining freedom from iron-fisted French rule. Reszak promised that no Russian troops will ever infringe on Irish territory and promised that the Russian People's entire military strength would be used if necessary to keep English and French forces out of Ireland. He said he hoped the courage of the Irish would be an inspiration to patriots in Tunis, Portugal and Spain who are still oppressed by French Royalist Forces.
